HOMEOWNERS' RISKS.

An earthquake causes structural damage to a high-value home; a visitor slips and sues the homeowner; a burst pipe ruins imported cedar panelling.

Owners of high-value homes throughout Canada, whether it's their primary residence, a home under construction or even a vacation home on Airbnb, face a wide range of risks to their property from natural threats such as earthquakes, as well as fire and other accidents.

High-value homes covered by Hiscox

To help Canadian homeowners buy the comprehensive cover they need, we offer an 'all risks' policy – unless it's excluded, it's covered – combined with straightforward policy language and backed by our promise to pay quickly and without argument when it comes to settling valid claims.

As an admitted insurer in Canada, we are able to write direct via retail brokers or via wholesale brokers. In addition, binding authority contracts are in place across Canada, increasing the ease with which customers can access our products.

Homeowners' cover through Lloyd's

Hiscox can trace its Lloyd's roots back to 1901 and underwrites through Syndicate 33, one of the oldest and most respected syndicates in Lloyd's. All Syndicates benefit from the security of Lloyd's high quality A+ financial rating (S&P), as well as its Central Fund.

What we cover

Offering 'all risks cover' as standard, we insure across all geographies in Canada for high-value homes from CAD 1 million upwards, covering:

- primary homes, secondary homes, vacant, seasonal and vacation homes
- homes under construction
- personal property, jewellery and art
- alternative accommodation costs
- personal liability up to CAD 5 million.

Optional cover:

- short term rental
- up to CAD 250k overland water limit, including tidal flooding
- mechanical breakdown for household appliances
- home office
- service line
- drone, model and hobby aircraft liability
- earthquake and tsunami.

Inspection reports included

We provide free inspection reports to ensure correct valuations, as well as unlimited cover for fire department charges.

Claims expertise when you need it

At a time of crisis, our expert claims team responds effectively; working to limit and rectify damage as quickly as possible.
